A Publication of the Nikkei Heritage Association of Washington

Your Vote Matters!

Help us win up to $125,000 to restore our Historic Register Buildings! The Japanese Community and Cultural Center of Washington (JCCCW) is one of 25 Partners in Preservation grant finalists in Seattle to win a share of $1 million! From now until May 12, please vote once a day at www.PartnersinPreservation.com. At the time of this writing, we're among the Top Ten vote getters! At the end of the voting period, the site that receives the most votes is guaranteed to receive funding, and sponsor American Express, the National Trust for Historic Preservation and an Advisory Committee will review the votes and every site's needs to decide how the remainder of $1 million in preservation grants will be awarded. Also, public participation at our May 1 and 2 Kodomo No Hi "Children's Weekend" open houses will also be considered in the award, so please stop by!

Kodomo no Hi

We are thrilled to announce our first ever Children's Weekend to celebrate Japan's Kodomo no Hi. On the weekend of May 1st & 2nd, the JCCCW will open its doors to families and children to celebrate traditional Japanese games, activities & opportunities to learn about Japanese heritage. Please come and join us between 12pm and 4pm. Some of the featured activities are Karate, Judo, Taiko demonstrations, a display of genuine samurai armor, a Tanko Bushi dance, and folk storytelling. There will also be plenty of arts & crafts such as making Koi nobori (carp windsocks) and dolls.

The Library and Museum will also be open and Children's Weekend will be your last chance to see the popular Kokeshi Exhibit of over 1,700 wooden dolls from Seattle area collectors. We also encourage you to come dressed in your Happi or Yukata.

Tomodachi Luncheon

On March 26th, 2010 the Japanese Community and Cultural Center of Washington (JCCCW) held its second annual Tomodachi (Friends) Luncheon fundraiser at the Bellevue Westin Hotel. The luncheon was extremely successful with more than 270 supporters and community members showing their support for the JCCCW. Thanks to the generosity of sponsors including Boeing, Nintendo, Starbucks, the Woodburn Company, Tom and Sally Hirai and Jeff and Sachie Nitta who covered hosting costs for the event, more than $43,000 raised at the luncheon will go directly to benefit the JCCCW.

A Letter from the Board President

To Our Friends,

If you haven't been to the Japanese Cultural and Community Center lately – we are OPEN FOR BUSINESS!

We rang in the Year of the Tiger with a traditional mochitsuki with our partners the Nisei Veterans Committee and the Fukuoka Kenjin Kai. Folks of all ages are flocking to our new programs. Project: Community! in conjunction with JAACL Pacific Northwest fosters youth leadership. Participants saw living history during a tour of the International District with "Uncle Bob" Santos and learned about history through art with renowned artist Roger Shimomura. We are proud to host the Mosaic Mixed Heritage Group, the LGBTQQIA API Affinity Group and a twice monthly Japanese Conversation Club. And we welcome the return of free Eiga (Movie) Nights for the family.

The Omoide authors group is presenting well attended panels most recently about memories of the Japanese Language School and Japanese American businesses from pre-1900 to today. This summer, we will have classes on researching your family history and genealogy. Of course there are Japanese Language classes – every Saturday for children and weeknights for adults. Add to that classes from "School of Taiko" and "One World Taiko," Budokan Dojo (Judo) and Seattle Seido Karate and you've got a place that's hopping!

We are also getting many visitors to the Nikkei Bunko Japanese Language Library and the very cool "1000 Kokeshi!" exhibit currently at the Northwest Nikkei Museum. In keeping with our mission to promote Japanese and Japanese American culture, we sent three students for a month-long Cultural Immersion Program in Kobe last summer. Thanks to a generous grant from the Tateuchi Foundation, we've spruced up our Legacy Buildings by creating a new taiko dojo and parent's lounge, building wheelchair accessible restrooms and refurbishing our Nikkei Museum. (Don't miss the pocket garden and stone lantern along our upgraded building ramp!)

Thanks to more than a hundred volunteers from City Year this January, the building interiors received a fresh coat of paint and a "Totoro" mural.

We have an energetic new Board of Directors and with our CEO Clarence Moriwaki now onboard, we are turning our attention to building a new facility.

Come and visit soon! Celebrate Children's Weekend at our Open House May 1 and 2 from noon to four and put our Community Rummage Sale on your calendar July 10!

Lori Matsukawa
President of the Board of the JCCCW

Meet our newest JCCCW Board Members

We are pleased to welcome and introduce two new members to the JCCCW Board of Directors!

Seattle native Debbie Nagasawa currently works for the City of Seattle and was the Chief Financial Officer and Chief Development Officer for Nikkei Concerns. She has held chief financial positions with the Washington State Convention and Trade Center, King County, the City of Bellevue, and King County Library System. A graduate of the University of Washington, a Certified Public Accountant and Japanese American Citizens League member, she is a devoted mother of two boys, helps care for her parents and she's an avid Mariners fan.

Tsutomu "Tom" Sasaki currently serves as chairman of the Japan America Society, president of The Japanese Community Service of Seattle and serves on the council of the Japanese Language School. Owner of BBS International, Inc. and Ecore Global, Inc., Tom earned a BA in economics and Pacific Rim International Relations from the Jochi (Sophia) University in Tokyo in 1969 and a decade later Tom and his wife Yoko moved to Seattle and they have two grown daughters and one grandchild. Tom enjoys golf, gardening, travel and music.

Message from the New CEO

"A vision without a task is a dream. A task without a vision is drudgery. A vision with a task is a delight."

I don't know who first said these inspirational words, but they reflect how humbled and honored I am to serve as the new Chief Executive Officer of the JCCCW.

I'm delighted to be playing a part in this exciting vision and task, from preserving the historic legacy of the longest continuously operating Japanese Language School in North America, to working towards developing a new community center that will become the home to honor and inspire Japanese and Japanese American heritage.

I'm pleased to announce some great news from the State of Washington – Our $1.2 million in state grants ($200,000 in 2005 and $1 million in 2007) can be used now on Phase 1 to renovate, restore and upgrade our existing buildings! The current extension on our grants ends on June 2011, so we plan to move forward on renovating and enhancing our historic buildings that could include restoring the exteriors to historically-correct details, improving access for people with disabilities, renovating and enhancing interior spaces, upgrading insulation, improving security and more.

These long overdue improvements will not only enhance the enjoyment and accessibility for participants of our current and new programs, visitors and partner tenants, but by witnessing our visible progress making over our historical register buildings, I believe that it will inspire the greater community to help make our long-term vision of a building a warm, inviting cultural and community center for future generations a reality.

The luncheon was smoothly hosted by KING TV 5 weekend sports reporter Andrea Nakano – also speaking beautiful Japanese – and featured speeches by new JCCCW Chief Executive Officer Clarence Moriwaki, Board of Directors President Lori Matsukawa and Corporate Cabinet member Bart Lemmon of the Ricoh Corporation. Seattle Mariners Manager Don Wakamatsu was in Peoria, Arizona preparing the M's for the 2010 season and unable to attend, but he offered a heartfelt video message that reflected on the pride of his own heritage and the importance of the JCCCW. Lunch goers were also treated to a spirited performance by the taiko group The School of Taiko comprised of Ringtaro & Asako Tateishi.

First Annual Tomodachi Award Given to Senator Inouye

U.S. Senator Daniel Inouye (D-Hawaii) was honored with the first annual Tomodachi Award, given for his life-long work strengthening cultural ties between Japan and the United States. Due to his important work passing health care reform in Washington D.C., Senator Inouye could not be in attendance so his wife Irene Hirano accepted the award on his behalf. As president of the US-Japan Council, Hirano in her own right has contributed much to strengthen the relationship between the United States and Japan, taking a leadership role to foster peaceful relations between the two nations. In her acceptance speech, Hirano highlighted the sometimes strained relationship between the United States and Japan and the need now more than ever to build trans-Pacific ties of goodwill. The award was presented by JCCCW Board President Lori Matsukawa and Corporate Cabinet Co-Chair Ted Yamamura of The Boeing Company.

Irene Hirano accepts First Annual Tomodachi Award on behalf of her husband US Sen. Daniel Inouye.

ONGOING PROGRAMS

NW Nikkei Museum

Final chance to see our Seattle collects: 1,000 Kokeshi (Wooden Dolls) exhibit. The show will come down immediately following our Kodomo no Hi event on May 1 & 2. Our next exhibit is NW Nikkei Restaurants. Show opens June 2010. Early 20th century restaurants will be featured: Bush Garden, Maneki, Jackson Café, Sukiyaki Inn to name a few. Will be looking at Seattle, Tacoma, Yakima, Spokane, Bellingham businesses. The Museum Committee is currently looking for volunteers to help catalog and help properly store archives and museum collections. If you are interested in helping out please contact the JCCCW office at admin@jcccw.org or calling 206-568-7114.

An nai

The JCCCW Docent Program. Volunteers leading historic and informational tours and giving cultural arts classes on the JCCCW campus. Tours include JLS buildings and local Nikkei history. Cultural arts classes and programs include cooking, calligraphy, dance, singing, origami, Omoide presentations and much more. If you know of a student group who might be interested in visiting or to get involved with our An nai program please contact the JCCCW office at admin@jcccw.org or calling 206-568-7114.

Ganbaru Internship Program

What difference could you make at the Japanese Cultural and Community Center? Become an Intern, have a positive influence, learn new skills and help further the goals of the JCCCW. Internships available in programs, communications, marketing, language program, museum and library studies and much more! To learn more or to apply - Contact the JCCCW office: info@jcccw.org or 206-568-7114

Resource Center

Exciting news on the JCCCW Resource Center front! We recently received a generous donation of a library from the Hyogo Business and Cultural Center of English language Japanese books covering subjects on travel, language, art and culture, literature, education, politics, business and history. This gift of more than 1,000 books represents a huge step forward for our Resource Center. The books have all been inventoried and new Japanese American books are being added to round out the offerings. If you are interested in volunteering in our Resource Center or have books to donate – please contact the JCCCW office at admin@jcccw.org or calling 206-568-7114.

Seattle Japanese Language School update

Saturday Classes for Children: Spring quarter began on March 20. This quarter includes JLS booth at Cherry Blossom Festival at Seattle Center on April 16-18.

We had sad news about passing of our Beginning 1 teacher, Mrs. Akiko Sakamoto, on March 6, 2010. A memorial was held at JLS on March 27 joined by over 130 people paying respect to beloved teacher.

Please come and support our “Annual Plant Sale” on June 5, at front of the Bunko Library, 511 16th Ave. S. 10am-2pm.

JLS is planning an annual Undokai, or field day on June 12 for our students and families, with fun filled games and races.

Summer class will begin on July 3, every Saturday 9:30 - 11:30am for 8 sessions (except July 10).

Adult Evening Classes: New eight-week session start dates:

May 24: Beginner 2
May 25: Intermediate
May 26: Beginner 3
May 27: Beginner 1

Please visit our website: www.jcccw.org for more information or call: 206-323-0250 during business hours.

JCCCW Lounge

Check out our new lounge for parents and community members. A quiet place to read, watch a video or just hang out! Use the free Wi-Fi or check out one of the new videos donated to JCCCW while the kids take a class!

ONGOING PROGRAMS

Omoide

The Omoide Project is an oral history program run through the Japanese Community and Cultural Center of Washington dedicated to preserving the memories of Japanese Americans incarcerated during the Second World War as well as the history and experiences of the Seattle area Nikkei community.

Omoide Project: Hunt Hotel Presentation

Omoide has published five volumes of personal short stories comprised of childhood recollections of the World War II incarceration of Japanese Americans, two of which (Omoide IV and Omoide V) are available for purchase at the JCCCW. In addition to its publishing effort Omoide also conducts quarterly community forums that serve to preserve the collective memory of the Seattle area Nikkei community by allowing elders to share their stories and experiences with present and future generations. The Omoide Project is also heavily involved in educating today's youth giving presentations on the history and issues surrounding Japanese American internment to elementary, middle and high school students throughout King, Pierce and Snohomish counties

Library

Nikkei Bunko is gearing up for new things this spring. We have a new web catalog currently located at <http://nikkeibunko.jcccw.org>, where you can browse some of the library's listings or view the expanded newsletter.

We have received a new batch of audio-books for available for loan.

Choose from regional folk tales to literary classics. NB also has a widening selection of DVDs. Check out our selection of Japanese television dramas and classic movies. There are also comedies, mysteries, variety shows, and anime available for your viewing pleasure.

The library also has numerous reading materials available. Bring your young-ones and browse the children's section, where we have a wide selection of picture books, comics, and stories for young readers. Additionally, consider checking out a literary thriller from authors such as Nishimura Kyotaro. Nikkei Bunko stocks translations of western fiction written in the Japanese vernacular.

Nikkei Bunko (Japanese Language Library) volunteers Jonathan Lin, Bruce Terami and Nara Sekine working together on the on-line catalog of the library's vast offerings.

Need to improve or refresh your skills? We have books for all levels of Japanese skills. Try one of the Japanese classics from Akutagawa Ryunosuke, or borrow a cookbook to expand your culinary repertoire. We also have an ongoing used-book sale.

Visit Nikkei Bunko every Tuesday and Friday, 10 - 2pm, located at the Japanese Cultural & Community Center of Washington.

SPECIAL CLASSES and WORKSHOPS

Nikkei Genealogy Workshop

Look out! The next Nikkei Genealogy workshop is back by popular demand. Join us for this 2-part session (June 2nd and 16th 1:30-3:30 or 6:30 – 8:30) and start the journey of tracing and documenting your family history. This beginning workshop will help you get organized, identify resources such as immigration documents, US Census records, websites and directories, and gather information to start tracing your family roots. We will be offering two times for the workshop - daytime sessions from 1:30-3:30 and evening sessions 6:30-8:30. Fee is $25.00 and you can sign up at admin@jcccw.org or call 206-568-7114 to ensure a spot in this fun and innovative workshop.

Ringtaro Tateishi and the School of Taiko

Professional taiko drummers Ringtaro and Asako Tateishi are teaching classes at JCCCW as instructors of the School of Taiko. Classes will be held on Fridays and anyone above the age of 6 is welcome to join and learn Taiko drumming! Both Ringtaro and Asako are skilled in many Japanese instruments and excited to share their passion and culture with everyone. Contact: japantaiko@gmail.com.

One World Taiko

One World Taiko presents a contemporary style of Japanese drumming that incorporates dynamic and fluid movement as well as heart pounding percussion. They incorporate traditional pieces with original compositions infused with jazz and world rhythms, resulting in the unique style of One World Taiko. They will be starting a beginner class at the new taiko dojo from Saturday April 17 – May 22, 11:45-12:45. Contact: oneworldtaiko@earthlink.net // www.oneworldtaiko.com/.

Project: Community!

An exciting new youth leadership program run by the Japanese Cultural and Community Center of Washington in partnership with the Japanese American Citizens League PNW, geared toward high school students to developing self identity, creating awareness of Japanese American issues and increasing youth leadership within the Nikkei community.

Project: Community! is organized around a variety of hands-on learning sessions and dynamic projects designed to inspire students through knowledge of self identity, a sense of place and community. Previous activities featured unique field trips and special activities including a historical walking tour of Nihonmachi led by "Uncle" Bob Santos and an up-close Q&A session with internationally acclaimed artist and Seattle native son Roger Shimomura.

Judo Class

Founded in 1968, the Budokan Dojo strives to offer the highest level of training for all judoka from local club to elite competitive players. It has consistently produced top-level athletes, coaches and referees. The Budokan Dojo, operating at JCCCW, offers classes to students of all ages and experience levels. Contact: www.budokanjudo-seattle.com.

Karate Class

JCCCW is offering Karate classes every Tuesday and Thursday evening. The instructor and founder of Seattle Seido Karate, Jun Shihan Tom Tanaka, has been teaching karate since 1980. He currently teaches and supervises Seido karate programs at the Downtown YMCA, Northshore YMCA, Dale Turner YMCA, and Washington Athletic Club. Contact: (206) 250-8255 // ttanaka@seattleseido.org.

Upcoming Event

Rummage Sale – July 10, 9am - 3pm

If you like garage sales or thrift stores, you will love JCCCW's Rummage Sale! Every year, the JCCCW holds this much-anticipated and wildly popular community event thanks to generous donations of goods by people throughout the community. This year's Rummage Sale will be held on July 10th from 9am to 3pm at the JCCCW Campus. Put this date on your calendar, so you can enjoy our wide variety of vintage Japanese items for sale as well as everyday household goods, clothes, etc. With over 10,000 square feet of items, the possibilities are limitless! All the proceeds from this sale benefit the Japanese Cultural & Community Center of WA and its programs.

GROUPS and CLUBS

Yoisho!

“Yoisho” is a Japanese word used to express physical effort. Likewise, the JCCCW’s Yoisho! Program is the part of the organization that allows us to provide programs and events for the community and achieve our goal of promoting and sharing Japanese and Japanese American history and heritage. This vital piece of the JCCCW’s operation, of course, is our volunteers. Our volunteers come from various cultural, social, and education backgrounds, which makes it such a great learning experience.

The goal of the Yoisho! Program is to engage people throughout our community in volunteerism and foster leadership. Yoisho! also strives to maximize the learning experience of volunteers by involving them in our organization and since volunteers are the backbone of the JCCCW, another goal of Yoisho! is to acknowledge the hard work of volunteers and offer appreciation for their devotion. To be a part of this program, visit our website to register online (www.jcccw.org). You can also call 206-568-7114, or email us: admin@jcccw.org and let us know what your interests are. We would love to have you share your skills with us!

Mosaic Mixed Heritage Group

Group focusing on issues related to multiethnic and multicultural heritage is meeting regularly at JCCCW! Get involved and celebrate the diversity that is Washington Nikkei! Contact Jamie in the office for meeting times and activities. JamieS@jcccw.org or 206-568-7114.

LGBTQQ API Affinity Group

Safe and nurturing place where API folks can come together, get support, develop friendships, share in community and plan and participate in activities, events and special occasions. Join us for movies and other activities. Contact Bif@jcccw.org for a schedule of activities/meetings and get on the mailing list.

Conversation Club

Konnichiwa Minasama! Nihongo ga hanasemasu ka? For anyone who is interested in sharpening or keeping up their Japanese language skills, the Japanese Conversation Club is for you. It is a chance to practice with speakers of all levels, improve on language skills, learn about Japanese culture and make new friends! Every 2nd and 4th Thursday, 6:30 - 8:30pm . Cost: $5 Next meeting times: May 13 & 27, June 10 & 24, July 8 & 22. Contact: Machiko Wada at machikow@jcccw.org or (206) 568-7114.

If you would like to donate your own unwanted goods, we will accept them on our two donation drop-off days on July 8th & 9th between 9am and 7pm.

We are specifically seeking donation of Japanese items such as: dolls, dishes & kitchen items, happi, kimono, obi, geta, musical instruments, tools, artwork, screens, scrolls, books, videos, ikebana & tea, ceremony items, toys, etc.

We will only accept items that are clean and in good working order, and unfortunately we cannot accept the following items: baby furniture, baby car seats, mattresses, large furniture, old microwaves, TVs, computers, exercise machines, outdated magazines, skis, ski boots, and bowling balls.

Please check our website for a complete list: www.jcccw.org.
